picturehouse
the global home of picture sellers

Welcome

to our third annual picturehouse Chicago event. We offer a unique opportunity for you to meet image suppliers from around the world, all in one location, all in one day.

We're sure you'll discover new sources of stunning, innovative and quirky imagery, from multinational libraries and specialist photographers, covering every subject and style.

And we hope you'll enjoy our legendary hospitality and use this opportunity to network and catch up with colleagues. We provide food and beverages throughout the day, including beer and wine after 5pm.

To discover even more sources of cutting-edge imagery, check out: www.imagesources.org

And check out our website for details of our New York event (October 29): www.picturehouse-us.com

Organizations

PACA 31

The Picture Archive Council of America, is the trade organization in North America that represents the vital interests of stock archives and others who license images for commercial reproduction. Founded in 1951, our membership includes over 100 companies in North America and over 50 International Affiliate Members.

PACA's Mission Statement is "to foster and protect the interests of the picture archive community through advocacy, education and communication." Accordingly, we work to develop useful business standards and promote ethical business practices; actively advocate copyright protection; collect and disseminate timely information; and take an active role in the picture community by building relationships with organizations from related industries.

PACA members represent the best niche and general photography files in the world. Check out www.pacaoffice.org to find a current listing of our member companies. You can also search by keywords to find the archive that best fits your needs.

SAA 31

The Stock Artists Alliance is the only trade association dedicated to the business interests of professional stock photographers. SAA supports its worldwide membership with substantial information resources and ongoing advocacy initiatives. We are dedicated to building positive, mutually beneficial relationships with our partners in the image licensing industry. Learn more about SAA at www.stockartistsalliance.org

ASPP 31

The American Society of Picture Professionals is a community of image experts committed to sharing their experience and knowledge throughout the industry. We provide professional networking and educational opportunities. If you create, edit, research, license, manage or publish pictures, ASPP is the place for you. Since 1966, ASPP has sought to bring together the different groups of image professionals through its educational programs, chapter meetings, quarterly magazine The Picture Professional, and regular emailing of announcements, job postings, etc. At www.aspp.com you can find a gallery, the current issue of the magazine with certain archived articles about the business of photography, book reviews, chapter programs, a Find a Pro link to its members, and other helpful resources. Members can also enter into a password-protected area to gain access to an up-to-date membership directory, job postings, and current eNews.

PHOTOSHELTER COLLECTION

Did you ever notice that stock photography has a tendency to look, well, a little "stocky?" And it's no surprise given that the big guys keep eating the small guys, and so many sites are aggregating content from each other. What ever happened to the diversity and creativity?

But when 15,000 photographers from 120 countries (and counting) come together to contribute over 100,000 images per month, the world suddenly starts to look interesting again. Imagine a place where a 13-year old kid submits a picture of his friend with an afro, riding his bike while listening to his iPod... that he took only yesterday. Imagine finding that perfect homegrown shot right alongside some of the greatest aerial photography in the world.

That's the kind of place where we like to hang out because pictures inspire us. And we want pictures to inspire you again too, like they used to before the big guy ate the small guy.
